Who is this course for?

If you would like to take the opportunity to get recognized for your experience as a project manager, supervisor, or foreman within Civil Construction.

Use this qualification to prove to employers you have the knowledge and experience to get the job done, and land that new job or promotion.

Here's what one of our students thinks...

"GTI is flexible with its time and did all they could to ensure I had the support I needed to succeed. I have been actively employed in the civil industry for over 10 years straight now so most of the subjects were second hand to me. I did however enjoy learning about road design again as I hadn't done them for a few years."

Sam Clatworthy

Where can this course take you?

This qualification is the visa entry requirement to work on the civil and oil and gas projects throughout the world. With infrastructure projects at an all time high and being pulled forward by governments, having your qualifications allows you to stand out from the crowd and gain a higher level position.

One of the greatest things with gaining your qualification is being formally recognised for the years of experience and knowledge you have. Although this qualification is not new, there have only been a privileged few who have gained the benefits of having the recognition they deserve by completing their Diploma of Civil Construction Management RII50420.
